WORD OF WELCOME

Hello, bonjourno, guttentag, fakka. First off let me start by complimenting you. You ordered our Bertrando, made yourself (and others) happy and enjoyed it (with or) without a hangover. Consequently I officially pronounce you a Bertrando. You're one of us now. Don't call Tom Cruise, he and the Scientology can't help you.

Now that's out of the way i'll get more into detail about the past, present and future of Bertrando.

EDITION 1
2021

BACKSTORY BERTRANDO

Yup, this is him. Mr. Bertrando. As a lot of us, he's convinced he's an above average driver, helps the neighbours with groceries and doesn't add milk to his coffee. What's not to like?

In all seriousness. He likes to make Bertrando. A lot.

In his opinion most common limoncellos are too soft, with an ABV up until 35%. There was no real taste of alcohol flowing from your gullet to your tummy. That's where it started.

The result? An intense sweet and sour pallet of lemon zest and alcohol all combined in one spirit.

THIS AND THAT AND NAPS

Our first official bottle was sold on August 10th to Mark Alfrink. Legend says he keeps it in his souterrain to age. We also don't know why.

Our lemons are organic and untreated to guarantee the best quality men has to offer. Every lemon is carefully checked and hand washed before getting peeled.

Besides drinking Bertrando after dinner, we aim at drinking it with friends. With or without dinner. Just make sure you have some good company. Or else, let us be that company.

Sacrifices were made to achieve our extraordinary taste. Mid-day Bertrando tastings were necessary, which eventually ended up in regular mid-day naps. Bertrando, great replacement for green tea or warm milk. Maybe not the best slogan?

NEW BATCH

I guess the content of this paragraph is already spoiled by its title. Which means, a new batch is ready in 7 days! And it's a big one. The biggest one yet. We worked hard on this one, peeling for days and evenings in a row. All to guarantee its tasty flavour and hazy yellow colour.

There are still some limited spots available on the pre-order list so hit us up if you are thirsty! Remember, free doorstep delivery is included!*
